6N Systems, Inc. honored in The Business Review's Best Places to Work

Wilton, NY – October 28, 2008 “The Business Review has named 6N Systems, Inc. one of the 2008 Best Places to Work in the Capital Region. The award recognizes the company’s achievements in creating a positive work environment that attracts and retains employees through a combination of benefits, working conditions and company culture.

The Wilton-based 6N Systems, Inc. was one of the 200 companies to enter, making the top 30 list based on the strength of its employee evaluations.

“When founding 6N Systems in 2001, we envisioned a workplace that was focused not only on building software, but on building a solid, lasting team,” said David Finkelstein, CEO. “We have been successful in creating a work environment that promotes high performance and customer satisfaction while balancing the needs of the staff and their personal lives. The dedication of our staff is what makes 6N a successful Capital Region company.”

“Employees are proud to work for companies that are about more than business,” said Mike Hendricks, Business Review editor. “And the results show how creating the right work environment can create powerful business advantages.”

The top companies will be profiled in a special supplement of The Business Review issued on December 5 and will be honored at a celebration on December 4 at the Crowne Plaza in Albany.

“We entered the award program because we believe our culture is unique,” said Darcy Baldwin, COO of 6N Systems. “It’s straightforward; 6N provides a collaborative and productive work environment with a group of high performing, highly motivated individuals. Employees are accountable to each other and share in the vision of the company. Most importantly, the culture provides a fun and open environment that encourages team members to grow to their fullest potential. 6N is very proud of its employees, and we’re proud to be a winner of this award.”

Companies were evaluated on an objective 40-question survey completed by employees of participating companies. Employees scored their respective companies on a six-point scale. The results were compiled and analyzed by The Business Review’s research partner, Quantum Market Research.

The survey takes the following strategic measures into account:

- Team effectiveness
- Retention
- Employee alignment with company goals
- Trust with co-workers
- Individual contribution
- Manager effectiveness
- Trust in senior leaders
- Feeling valued
- Work engagement
- People practices

“The best places to work are companies that don’t cut back their commitment to employees in a down economy, while asking them to work harder and smarter,” said Business Review publisher Carolyn Jones. “They recognize employees as their best asset, instrumental in maintaining the quality and reputation for services and products. It’s a smart and winning business strategy.”
