NYS Essex County Long Term Care Facility Embraces New Technology
Efforts to Modernize Systems to Benefit Residents and Workforce

Wilton, NY – December 1, 2009 –6N Systems, a long-term care Financial and EMR (Electronic Medical Records) software provider, announced today that Essex County’s Horace Nye Facility in New York State have licensed the 6N Financials™ product to manage administrative, clinical and financial information for their long term care facility.

With the new technology, staff at Horace Nye will be able to improve clinical management with tools to help better track clinical data for resident safety, as well as streamline their operations and create efficiencies in billing.

“Horace Nye is an important place for seniors and families in our community,” said Deborah Gifford, Administrator of the Essex County Facility. “With improved technology, we can provide a more reliable system for managing all of our operations – from clinical information to billing management, in order to continue our mission of providing skilled nursing care in a safe, secure, environment.”

Medicare and Medicaid certified, the Horace Nye Home offers a full array of services for seniors including skilled nursing and health-related care; restorative and maintenance physical therapy; social services; leisure time, dietary and housekeeping services; dental care; and access to speech, podiatric, audiologic, and eye care.

“We are excited to be working with Essex County on implementing technology that will help them more easily manage their day to day tasks,” said Darcy Baldwin, COO, 6N Systems, Inc. “Our software was designed specifically for Long Term Care organizations, and to help caregivers provide more efficient and safer services to our seniors and their families.”

6N Systems also offers the 6N EMR™ (Electronic Medical Record) that includes a full suite of clinical features including resident medical charts and reporting tools, all designed to streamline data management and improve communication between caregivers, and help facilities better manage resident care.
